Clean Energy Expert Paul Westbrook to Visit Colombia on Behalf of PCEN and SENA

Washington, D.C., November 11th, 2013 – Paul Westbrook a Senior Fellow in the Energy and Climate Partnership of the Americas (ECPA), will be traveling from November 17th to November 22th to participate in meetings and events in Colombia including the workshop “Gestión de Proyectos en Energías Renovables”. PCEN Fellow Paul Westbrook is a Sustainable Development Manager at Texas Instruments.

The Partners of the Americas Climate and Energy Network (PCEN) is an active network of people, institutions, universities and governments throughout the Americas. Through PCEN, Partners of the Americas works to create long-lasting partnerships intended to enhance the Latin American and Caribbean region’s academic and applied field in energy and climate change, build capacities of institutions, and facilitate long-term collaboration across borders. The main areas of focus for the program are: renewable energy and energy efficiency, climate change adaptation, sustainable land use, climate change policy development, university capacity building, connections to international projects. Paul Westbrook is an expert LEED-Accredited Professional, recognized as a leader and speaker in efficiency and whole-system integrated design across the spectrum from residential projects to large industrial facilities.

During his exchange to Colombia, Paul Westbrook will present at the workshop “Gestión de Proyectos en Energías Renovables” about renewable energy towards Latin America: he will reunite with 23 SENA leaders from all around the country who have been working on projects for their region. He will visit the “Tecnoparque Nodo la Angostura” where he will see the developed projects. Also, he will go to the desert areas of Tatacoa, where he will reunite with the community to hear their concerns.

Partners of the Americas is an international network that promotes social and economic development in the Americas through leadership, voluntary service, and development programs. Its mission is to connect individuals, volunteers, institutions, businesses, and communities to serve and to change lives through lasting partnerships. Partners envisions an interconnected hemisphere that maximizes the social and economic potential, and leverages the full diversity, of the Americas.
